Amplex AB has acquired all the shares in the German company Filbertechnik Jäger GmbH. The sellers are the company's founder Roland Jäger and the Managing Director Linda Jäger.

Filbertechnik Jäger designs and manufactures high-performance products for industrial liquid filtration such as filter media, filter elements and filter housings with accessories. The company has a strong position in its product niche and works closely with its customers to offer the optimal materials and filter design for each unique customer application. Many of the company's customers are OEM manufacturers in energy, metal and component production. The two sellers will continue to work for the company after the change of ownership, Roland Jäger in an advisory role and Linda Jäger continuing as Managing Director. Linda Jäger comments on the transaction: 'We are very pleased to join Filbertechnik Jäger to the Amplex group. We see great opportunities for continued expansion into new verticals and geographic markets, and in Amplex we get a financially stable and long-term owner that can contribute with expertise, contacts and tools to support this.'
